Nichols, Ronald H. (editor), with Bird, Daniel I., Men With Custer: Biographies of the 7th Cavalry. This book is a reference source containing the biographies of the officers, enlisted men, citizens, Indian scouts and quartermaster employees who were associated with the 7th United States Cavalry Regiment in June 1876. The Little Big Horn battle continues to be one of controversy, and while it certainly was a significant battle in terms of military history of the western United States during the 1865 to 1890 time period, its overall affect on U.S. history was minor. But what of the men who were in the 7th Cavalry on that fateful day on June 25, 1876? Where were they born? What were their civilian jobs? How long were they in the army? What were their assignments on June 25? What was their ultimate fate? This is a new and expanded edition of Men With Custer: Biographies of the 7th Cavalry published by CBHMA in 2000. This expanded edition contains over 500 pages.

Hardcover edition is limited to 250 copies - Softcover is limited to 750 copies.
Hardcover (No. 999) .....$50.00: Softcover (No. 1000).....$30.00

Nichols, Ronald H. (editor), Reno Court of Inquiry: Proceedings of a Court of Inquiry in the Case of Major Marcus A. Reno. In 1876 the United States was shocked at the news of the loss of over 260 officers and men at the Little Big Horn. There was an almost immediate attempt to establish blame for the disaster. Brig. Gen. Alfred H. Terry, in command of the Dakota column, managed to escape direct accusations, thus focusing attention on Maj. Marcus A. Reno, Custer's second-in-command, and Capt. Frederick W. Benteen, the senior captain. Frederick Whittaker's book The Complete Life of Major General George Armstrong Custer, published in late 1876, accused Reno and Benteen of cowardly conduct. A Court of Inquiry was convened at the Palmer House in Chicago, Illinois, on January 13, 1879, to determine the facts of the case and 23 witnesses testified over a four week period. This is the only official testimony about the events of June 25-26, 1876, and was taken directly from the original transcript at the National Archives. This hardcover edition has a sewn binding—no more loose pages. (No. 710) .....$35.00

New/Recent Publications

- Agonito, Joseph, Brave Hearts: Indian Women of the Plains. Agonito skillfully conveys the lives of this remarkable group of women; some famous, some obscure. Some were hunters, some were warriors and, in a rare case, one was a chief. Some were born into traditional families and knew their place in society; others were bi-racial struggling to find their place in a world conflicted between Indian and white. Some only knew the old, nomadic way of life; others lived to suffer through the reservation years. Others were born on the reservation but did their best in difficult times to keep to the old ways. Some never left the reservation while others ventured out into the larger world. All, in their own way, were Plains Indian women. (No.1042) .....$22.00
- DeWolf, James Madison; Editor Harburn, Todd E; Foreword Hutton, Paul A., A Surgeon with Custer at the Little Big Horn. James Madison DeWolf accepted the assignment of contract surgeon for the Seventh Cavalry in the spring of 1876, becoming one of three surgeons who accompanied Custer's battalion at the Battle of the Little Big Horn. He died in the early stages of the battle, but his colleague Dr. Henry Porter, who survived the conflict, retrieved DeWolf's diary and sent it to his wife. The DeWolf family later donated the diary to the Little Bighorn National Monument. The diary represents an eyewitness account and primary resource for information about the Little Big Horn campaign and medical practices on the western frontier. Hardcover (No.1046) .....$30.00
- Donahue, Michael N., Where the River Ran Red, The Indian Fights of George Armstrong Custer. Donahue is the first author to compile a detailed look at all four of Custer's Indian fights in one comprehensive volume, with 23 original maps and 7 unpublished photos. He has filled this niche with a detailed story on the first 3 fights and how they determined Custer's actions at the Little Big Horn. Using field research, unpublished archeology evidence and eyewitness testimony, Donahue analyzes all of Custer's Indian fights that occurred near waterways...where the rivers ran deep. Available the end of August. Softcover. No.1050 .....$35.00
- Farioli, Dennis; Nichols, Ron; and Noyes, C. Lee, The Last Man Standing: William Spencer McCaskey. Included in this biography of William McCaskey is his "most difficult task" of informing the wives of many 7th Cavalry officers about the tragic loss of their husbands on June 25, 1876, at the battle of the Little Big Horn. McCaskey is the last of the Civil War officers to retire from the military in 1907. Softcover (No. 1023)..... $22.00
- Hedren, Paul A., Powder River Disastrous Opening of the Great Sioux War. This novel recounts the wintertime Big Horn Expedition and its singular great battle, along with stories of the Northern Cheyenne and their elusive leader Old Bear. Both sides of the conflict are tracked through a rich array of primary source material, including the transcripts of Reynold's court martial and Indian recollections. Hardcover (No. 1041).....$35.00
- Jackson, Joe, Black Elk: The Life of an American Visionary. The author provides the definitive biographical account of the Native American holy man whose dramatic life converged with some of the most momentous events in the American West. Black Elk killed his first man at the Little Big Horn, saw the death of second cousin Crazy Horse, and traveled to Europe with Buffalo Bill's Wild West show. Upon his return he was swept up in the traditional Ghost Dance movement and shaken by the Massacre at Wounded Knee. He accepted the path of a healer and holy man, motivated by a powerful prophetic vision that he struggled to understand. (No. 1044) .....$30.00
- Magid, Paul, The Gray Fox: George Crook and the Indian Wars. This prominent military figure in the late 19th century Indian Wars went largely unrecognized despite the important role he played in such pivotal events in western history as the Custer fight at the Little Big Horn, the death of Crazy Horse, and the Geronimo campaigns. The Apaches called Crook the Gray Fox after an animal viewed in their culture as a herald of impending death. Chief Red Cloud spoke for the Sioux upon Crook's death: "He, at least, never lied to us. His words gave the people hope." Hardcover (1033).....$30.00
- McChristian, Douglas C., Regular Army O! Soldiering on the Western Frontier, 1865-1891. At once panoramic and intimate, Regular Army O! uses the testimony of enlisted soldiers—drawn from more than 350 diaries, letters, and memoirs—to create a vivid picture of life in an evolving army on the western frontier. In this richly drawn, uniquely authentic view, men black and white, veteran and tenderfoot, fill in the details of the frontier soldier's experience, giving voice to history in the making. This book won the 2018 CBHMA book award. Hardcover (No.1049).....$35.00
- Wagner III, Frederic C., Participants in the Battle of the Little Big Horn. This battle was the decisive engagement of the Great Sioux War of 1876-1877. This second edition gives updates of all known participants—the 7th Cavalry, civilians, and Indians, including a brief description of the battle, as well as updated biographies for many European soldiers, along with an additional 5,0060 names of Indians who were or could have been in the battle. Softcover (1036) .....$38.00
- Wiley P. and Scott, Douglas D. (editors) Health of the Seventh Cavalry A Medical History. Building on previous comparisons of archaeological evidence and medical records, the editors follow multiple lines of inquiry to assess the health of the 7th from its organization in 1866 to its 1884 station on the Northern Great Plains. The book provides fresh insights into the health, disease, and trauma that the regiment experienced over two decades. Hardcover (1037).....$32.00
- Williams, Paul, Custer and the Sioux, Durnford and the Zulus. In June 1876 the 7th Cavalry was savagely defeated at the Little Bighorn in the Montana wilderness. Three years later redcoats mirrored this disaster with an equally high-handed grab for Zulu lands in South Africa. Lt. Colonel George A. Custer and Lt. Colonel Anthony W. Durnford had much in common from modes of dress to the way they died. This book interweaves the stories of the two soldiers and their final battles. Softcover (1038) .....$38.00

BLASTS FROM THE PAST

Nichols, Ronald H., In Custer's Shadow: Major Marcus Reno. During the Battle of the Little Big Horn, 5 entire companies of the 7th Cavalry, including their leader, George Armstrong Custer, were lost. For years the shadow of blame for the defeat has been cast upon Custer. What role did his subordinates play in the battle? In Custer's Shadow presents the complex life of Major Marcus Reno, Custer's second-in-command. Employing photographs and maps to help the reader visualize the text, Ronald H. Nichols unravels the controversy surrounding Reno's role in the battle and questions the scrutiny to which he was subjected in the years following the Battle. Autographed Limited Edition, Hardcover (No. 1047).....$15.00
